Mary Jane's Scrapbook

Will I ever forget? Never. Those daily lecture classes with papers to write, notebooks to prepare. Mr. Cooke's English and Bible classes were always a good place to sleep, eat peanuts, or listen—on the days just before a test.

Some of my friends studied biology under the able tutelage of Misses Egbert and McKee. The girls in the picture did not take biology, but they were herded into the laboratory one afternoon when Messrs. Noffsinger and Cooke and Miss Rusk set up the camera and fixed the lights. Anyway, this shows where my pals studied the spermatazoa and dissected the dogfish.

Miss Watkins had her hands full in the basement of the gymnasium with her many classes of typists, stenographers, and bookkeepers. Her students will all get positions in the business world, and become old maids.

Many of my friends studied in the dramatic art department under the direction of Miss Nunnally. They all appeared as impressive characters in the several good plays presented during the year. Emmie Lou could always be depended on for a good performance as the cantankerous old grandmother, or the mysterious station-master in The Ghost Train.

It was grand to be conveniently located near a capable seamstress or just anyone who could thread a needle. Miss Peay and Mrs. Siler taught the future homemakers the art of designing beautiful gowns. Did Norma ever finish knitting that red sweater?

Everyone remembers Pat and Margaret, and the other art students. Early in the morning they climbed five weary flights up to fifth floor East to work with Miss Jones, while aspiring to become a second Rosa Bonheur or Neysa McMein.

Those peculiar odors that wandered up from the chemistry lab in Hodges! Miss McKee could always think of the most smelly formula to work out.

So many have acquired their normal certificates after hours in the training school on fourth floor Hodges. "Ligon" slaved over her lesson plans while selling stamps, and all remember the austere presence of Miss Wools or Mrs. McQueen, while they were teaching "Jimmy" to spell "cat."

I could always find an opponent for a set of tennis by looking into the library on a hot afternoon. Assignments might be made, but how I dreaded the necessary research, especially when helpful Mrs. Matthews wasn't there, and the girl at the desk knew less than I did about the books.

Organ and piano lessons were always such a pleasant duty. Mr. Schoretter started and ended the hour with his best parlor joke. The sense of humor didn't seem to run throughout the music department, for I never heard Miss Pashley's, Miss Walter's, or Mr. Martin's latest.

My buddies in Hodges told me that although horrible odors emanated from the science labs, the luscious aromas from the Home Ec. laboratory evened the score. If Georgia ate all the delicious desserts they concocted, no wonder she acquired those effective curves.

I was just one of many who suffered for days after the strenuous tumbling and acrobatic exercises inflicted by "Miss B." and "Harrison" in gym classes. But what jolly old times were had by all during an exciting game of basket-ball or squash!

Good morning, Pat● Since when have motorcycles been a means of transportation for V. I., or was it the "cop" attraction● Thoughtful● Serious discussion● And the wind blew● A Spanish seno-rita? No, just a humble "rat"● Pals! And a cute two● Wipe those smiles off your faces, "Rats"● Did the Seniors work you too hard● Senior officers on a sunny morning● Careful, Neffie, it's bigger 'n you are● Mmm, special this morning. Bacon and eggs—with ashes● Can this be cupid● Madame Rusk. Ah, drama● Genial gentleman and friend● All aboard for Natural Tunnel and points nearby● Giddap, Sparky. But you're only calico● Friends● A jolly bunch of Seniors talking things over● Silhouette●

Remember the basket-ball tournament? The Seniors took the Juniors for a ride much to the Juniors' surprise. Then the varsity had that grand trip to Sweet Briar, winning laurels for Intermont again● There has been so much to keep you busy this year. Hikes and brisk canters through the mountains, tennis, swimming, rifle, squash, volley-ball, and every sport you wanted● Can you forget those early morning golf lessons? That's it, Texas, keep your eye on the ball!●

From early morning until night the tennis courts are constantly in use during the fall and spring months, and the student body always take a keen interest in the two seasonal tournaments. In May of 1934 Anita Oliver was awarded the championship cup donated by Mr. H. G. Noffsinger, Jr., and she is again one of the foremost contenders for the cup this year.

There are cool paths to be followed through the pines in the springtime, and invigorating hikes along the mountain trails on brisk days. Many enjoy the opportunities for hikes throughout the school year.

Besides regular swimming and life saving instruction, the pool is always open for that morning or afternoon dip.

Intermont girls, who ride horseback, take advantage of the picturesque trails through the mountains and across the broad farmlands.

White Top Mountain, so named because of its resemblance to a snow-capped range, guards the corners of Virginia, North Carolina, and Tennessee, and is a majestic example of the mountains surrounding Bristol.

Craftsmen

THE art of book making as developed in the 20th century requires the highest degree of skill. It demands artistic handling of type faces, many of which have a classic beauty in themselves. High grade presswork, which necessitates hours of tedious make-ready to bring out the contrast of light and shadow found in every engraving. And last, but not least, the bookbinding—the art preservative that cares for your book for years to come. Yes, we do all these things, and many more and our journeymen take pride in producing books, especially the College Annuals, of which all of us are proud.
